

Jeffrey Shellberg

Research Assistant: Center for Streamside Studies, CSS
M.S. Candidate in Forest Engineering and Hydrology:
College of Forest Resources, CFR
Forest Management and Engineering Div.
Box 352100 University of Washington
Seattle, WA 98195-2100
(206) 543- 5506

jshellbe@u.washington.edu

EDUCATION

- B.S. in Hydrology / Physical Science, June 1997, California State University, Chico
- Senior Project: A Hydrologic and Biologic Investigation of Rock Creek and Mud Creek, Butte County, California
- M.S. Candidate, Forest Engineering and Hydrology, University of Washington, Seattle

SHORT COURSES ATTENDED

- Geomorphology and Stream Restoration Shortcourse, Spring 1997, U.C. Berkeley

WORK EXPERIENCE

- Research Assistant, Bull Trout Habitat Issues, CSS, University of Washington
September 2000-Present
- Teaching Assistant, Wildland Hydrology, CFR, University of Washington
January 2001-March 2001
- Research Assistant, Floodplain and Riparian Corridor Issues, CSS, University of Washington
January 2000-June 2000
- Fisheries Biologist, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Lacey, Washington
June 2000-September 2000
- Hydrologic Technician, National Park Service, Gunnison, Colorado
May 1999-September 1999
- Stream Survey Volunteer, Heal the Bay, Malibu Creek, California
February 1999-May 1999
- Hydrologic Technician, Bureau of Land Management, Medford, Oregon
May 1998- November 1998
- Hydrologic Technician, Bureau of Land Management, Eureka, Nevada
June 1997-November 1997
- Fisheries Technician, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Red Bluff, California
May 1996-October 1996
- Meteorologic Technician, The University Foundation, Chico, California
September 1995-May 1996
- Biology Aid, Idaho Department of Fish and Game, Stanley, Idaho
June 1995-August 1995

PRESENTATIONS

- Center of Streamside Studies, Annual Review, January 2001, Poster Presented: Bedload Scour in Bull Trout Spawning Grounds
- Society for Ecological Restoration, Northwest Chapter, April 2001, Poster Presented: Bedload Scour in Bull Trout Spawning Grounds: Influences of site selection, channel morphology and watershed flow regime

AWARDS AND GRANTS

- Washington Fly Fishing Club (2001)

ACTIVITIES AND HONORS

- UW American Fisheries Society Student Chapter
- UW American Water Resource Association Student Chapter

- CSUC Dean's List (Fall 1992-Fall 1996)
- Golden Key National Honor Society